work of filling in the track and relaying the pavement has been begun.

The whole work will be completed by Saturday night, and on Sunday next the company will begin running care over the whole line of road.

This will be welcome news to the residents of Walnut Hills, who have waited long and patiently for the road which was to render their suburb the most comfortable and pleasant in the vicinity.

Base-Ball.

One of the most interesting ball games of the season was played yesterday afternoon on the Star grounds, Covington, between the Stars, of Covington, and the Buckeyes, of Columbus. Considering the bad weather it was a splendid game, one of the features of which was the fly-catch by Hartnet, the right fielder of the Buckeyes, The score stood as follows:

Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Buckeyes 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0
Stars 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 The Lightfoot Base-Ball Club, of Leba-non, Ohio, are registered at the "Wal-nut." They play the Blue Stockings, of Cumminsville, to-day, on the grounds of the latter club. The Buckeyes and the Amateurs play to-day at the Ludlow grounds.

The great game between the Stars and Ludlows is set for Saturday. There is no little anxiety with regard to the result among the respective friends of the two clubs, and the game is looked forward to with interest.

The Ratiroads and the Floods.

The different railroads which suffered considerably by the recent storms, and especially by that of Sunday, are nearly all in running order again to-day. The Pan-handle was obstructed by a land-slide near Corwin, Ohio, and at Freeport by an overflow of water, which covers the track for two miles. Two bridges have been washed away, but a large force of men are at work repairing and righting the track. East-bound passen-gers were sent out on the Cincinnati.

In the case of Ingham Bros. against George Lindeman, mentioned a few days ago, the jury was charged yesterday. Judge Avery in the charge set forth that the condition in the mortgage forbidding a sale or transfer of the property was broken by the assignment made to Lindeman, and entitled the plaintiffs to immediate possession. But that privilege was one which they could waive, and one evidence of such waiver would be their assent to the assignee retaining possession of the mortgaged chattels.

Witness said he had nothing to give. Then Porter asked him if he had not some friends who would give him $2,500 in twenty-tonr hours. Witness said he had no money to put up that way. A second and third interview resulted no better than the first. Subsequently Porter came with a note for $600, to be signed by witness, but he refused to sign. The Boomerang.

A traveler tells us something of the singular weapon used by the natives of Australia, the boomerang.

A traveler tells us something of the singular weapon used by the natives and them used by the natives. They ranged from two feet to thirty-eight inches in length, and were of various shapes, all curved a little, and looking, as he describes them, something like a wooden new moon. They were made of a dark, heavy wood, and weigh from one to three pounds. In thickness they vary from half an inch to an inch, and taper to a point at each end.

One of the natives picked up the piece of wood, poised it an instant, and threw it, giving it a rotary motion. For the first hundred feet or more it went straight ahead, with a deep humming sound. Then it tacked to the left and rose elightly, still rotating rapidly. It difference whatever between this and the other weapons.

Burleigh then walked to a distance of two hundred feet or more from the blacks and bid Carnboo throw to him. The native looked at him a moment rather curlously, then comprehending what was wanted, he selected one of the heaviest of the missiles, and, turning half round, threw it with great force in a direction almost opposite from that where Burleigh stood.

The weapon sped smartly for sixty or seventy feet, then tacked in an instant, and flew directly at Burleigh, and had he not most expeditiously ducked he would have received a hard thump, if nothing worse. It struck the ground would have received a hard thump, if nothing worse. It struck the ground twenty or thirty paces beyond. This feat brought out a broad grin, and something like a chuckle from the whole of them. Carnboo even intimated that he would like to try another cast, but Burleigh expressed himself fully satisfied.

too short range. We were standing in tront of one of the store-houses. Oarntront of one of the store-houses. Carnboo piaced—in front of the door, and stood with his back to him, with —'s hand on his shoulder.

None of us knew what sort of maneuver he had in mind, not even Myers. Standing in this position, the black threw the boomerang straight ahead. Immediately it curved in the air. Then it disappeared around the right corner of the building, and, before he had time to guess what was meant, came round from the other end (having passed completely around the store-house) and gave
